MAYOR THAYER'S FIFTH LETTER.

Inquiries Addressed to the Legal Tender Club of New London.

"An Open Letter to the Legal Tender Club of New London.
 "You of the white hat, linen duster and tin horn variety:
 "How your horns if you sell no fish. That is what I am doing. But you see, it is this way, I am on my way over the dustless to Washington, D. C., where the dignified U. S. senate sits, and as it comes to me by wireless that your esteemed knight of the horn, Phil Hankey, wants to go to the next general assembly, I am like all self-respected, enterprising candidates for the U. S. senate, looking after votes very early in the morning. Woe, to the worn:
 "By the way, as you are up on legal tender matters, I want to learn something right on the spot. If United States senators would be willing to go out to skin lo, the poor Indian, their votes are said to be worth from $25,000 to $50,000 apiece in good, new paper money, or if not new money, at least in bills liberated from your Uncle Sam's laundry. It took a blind man to see. But to the question: Tell me, are the unmarked, new or laundered bills which U. S. senators could receive if they set out to skin your friend Lo, legal tenders?
 "When a senator can get such sums for just dropping a single ballot in the hat we can understand how, as a business proposition, he can afford to buy an entire state legislature. But I'm a tightwad, and don't propose to buy Phil Hankey nor any old legislator until I am sure that the bribe money which is said to be about in Washington is not only unmarked, new or laundered, but legal tender as well. And, pray, to whom shall I appeal on the legal tender subject, if not the Legal Tender club?
 "The fact is, I'm off for the senate. There's millions in it for the senate."
 "CHARLES F. THAYER.
 "Norwich, Aug. 11, 1910."

GUARDING STATE'S HEALTH.

Dr. Townsend Looking After Infant Paralysis—Says People Need Not Get Excited.

The state board of health, among complaints and requests for further information such as the complaint information over the state relating to the discharge of sewage or information concerning all the legislation of tuberculosis, made or desired by man or institution, is now receiving letters from the health officers in the towns of Connecticut on how to prevent and how to manage infant paralysis, known as infantile paralysis, the disease being current in one or two places.

Dr. Joseph H. Townsend, secretary of the board, in making his statement in reply, saying that the disease should be treated as any other infectious disease. The only method to prevent its spreading is quarantine. And health officers will find his statement in the next number of the bulletin which is issued monthly, will appear on August 15.

Dr. Townsend said there were perhaps 15 cases in the state, there being several in Meriden, but he did not feel that the uninfected were in any danger. The requests by the health officers have been stopped in Norwich, but he does not feel that the uninfected were in any danger. The requests by the health officers have been stopped in Norwich, but he does not feel that the uninfected were in any danger.

Medical authorities would like to know just what causes the disease. The old theory advanced was that the germ passed into the system with the food, and that arrived in the stomach it became associated with the blood corpuscles. In the blood the germ gives off toxins, which, although rarely fatal, usually leave the affected person crippled. The second theory, which is more modern, is that the germ enters the blood by passing through the nose and into the spinal column. The disease is somewhat of the nature of spinal meningitis. Dr. Townsend emphatically declares that the people need not be excited.

National Horsehoers' Day.

National horsehoers' day is to be observed on Saturday by the master horsehoers of the state with a picnic at Savin Rock, giving a holiday in every Connecticut city and town. The dawn of a new era for New England fruit growers.

Mr. Bonsteel views with pleasure the prospect of the orchard spirit here and he feels sure that no better fruit can be grown anywhere than in New England valleys and upon New England hills. He sees in this movement the dawn of a new era for New England fruit growers.

Mr. Bonsteel needs to put on the old methods and put on the new—to put more into the ground and to take more out of it.

The soil survey of which Mr. Bonsteel is the head, has in its explorations come to recognize 13 great soil provinces, 58 soil series and 461 soil types. The survey of the city and its immediate local in character, while the remainder are of widespread occurrence within the respective provinces. For example, the Norfolk sand is a warm, porous soil of the Atlantic and gulf coastal plain province, suited to the production of truck crops. This type has been mapped in 24 different areas, located in 14 states, extending from New England to Texas. The total area covered by this type in the area mapped amounts to 1,702,000 acres or 2,650 square miles. Its extent within the area of these 14 states is many times as great. Throughout the region where it occurs this soil has a definite crop adaptation and the variety of crops which can be raised successfully upon it is limited by nature.

ROQUE GAMES.

I. J. Baker Arrives from Washington for Tournament—Foss Leads Local Players.

I. J. Baker, a first division player, from Washington, D. C., was a new arrival on Thursday for the national roque tournament, but did not get into any game. C. King of Chicago was not feeling well and kept away from play until late in the afternoon, but Frank Foss and Champion Harold Bosworth indulged in two practice games. Foss won the first, but the second remained unfinished, as Bosworth had to leave to catch his train.

In the city tournament a number of games were played. The following is now the standing:

Player	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
F. H. Foss	6	0	1.000
F. Sullivan	6	2	.750
W. H. Foss	4	4	.500
C. Hoffman	2	1	.667
F. Symington	4	3	.571
M. Maxwell	1	8	.111
A. Millard	1	8	.111
F. Millard	1	8	.111

Caught Chief in North Stonington.

Asst. Supt. Story of State Pol c: Arrests Walter Johnson—Wanted for Robbery at Appleton Maine's a Year Ago—Fled to Texas After Taking $130 One Sunday Afternoon.

William Johnson, who broke into the farmhouse of Appleton Maine in Preston about a year ago and stole $130 in cash, was caught in North Stonington, where he was yesterday morning by Assistant Superintendent Arthur L. Story of the state police. The assistant superintendent was accompanied by State Policeman Rudd of New London.

The prisoner was brought before justice of the Peace H. H. Pettis in the town of Preston, where he pleaded guilty to the charge against him and was bound over to the next term of the superior court in the sum of $500.

TO LAY OUT DIAMOND AT MOHEGAN PARK.

Superintendent Duff Will Have One Near Platt Avenue Entrance.

Supt. John Duff of Mohegan park expects to fill a long felt want by opening up a baseball diamond within three or four miles of the park. It will be located on the plot of ground that was leveled up and seeded down along the road near the Platt avenue entrance. The ground has now become sufficiently strong hold to make it fit for cutting, which will be done at once.

There are to be a number of swings and a band stand. The grounds are always popular and in constant use. The park is weekly becoming more popular for strollers and picnic parties who find it cool and comfortable there at all times. On Sundays Superintendent Duff estimates that there are about 1,000 people at the park. All the paths and roads now have signboards, which are a great convenience and make it easy to find the way around.

For the boys the lake continues to be the popular spot for daily swimming parties. The water is a fine blue and a half higher than it was at the same time last year.

No road is going on at present, but the contract for the Washington street entrance has been signed and work will be started on that road very shortly.

NEW ENGLAND SOILS.

What Commissioner of Soils Bonsteel Has to Say of Them in Southern New England.

J. A. Bonsteel, commissioner of soil survey, bureau of soils, at Washington, D. C., was in town Thursday as the guest of Congressman Higgins, after having been in Massachusetts, the central Connecticut and supervising the work of the surveying engineers in Windham county with headquarters at New London. Mr. Bonsteel is a practical farmer himself and does an extensive dairying business in New York state, where the farmers produce milk and cream.

He found that fruit growing ought to pay here, and he says there are farms with old orchards upon which the soil is so poor that the trees are being installed. The old trees should be pruned and scraped and washed with lime, sulphur and salt.

A NEW CHRYSANTHEMUM.

Gardener Beasley Has a White Sport from Yellow Plant at Ghanbouer Greenhouses.

When the chrysanthemum season opens this fall it will hold much more than ordinary interest for Charles H. Beasley, gardener at Ghanbouer for Mrs. William C. Lamm, as he has his hopes centered upon producing a new white variety of chrysanthemum. He has materialized it means fame and money as a reward for Mr. Beasley.

Last fall he had an experience unlike that of most chrysanthemum growers, it is said, when a standard yellow threw a white sport, and it is this white which he is now growing. Besides the original stock he has over eighty plants from the parent stem, which are ready to be put in the ground. He says that they will perpetuate the white. On this depends the claim for producing a new variety, when the plants come to be submitted to the best chrysanthemum experts in the country.

In the well kept greenhouses at Ghanbouer are also 100 chrysanthemums which will be in blossom about the last of September. Dahlias are just coming into flower, and will soon make a superb showing. Tuberoses, gladioli and gladioli are among the showy exhibits at present.

A big planting of hybrid teas contain some of the most beautiful. Last year the greenhouses produced 11,800 roses of this sort, but there will be more this season.

COUPON 1926 LUCKY.

Richard Lewis Awarded Bathroom Heater—1425 Coupons Turned in at City Gas Office.

Attached to the bills sent out this month by the city gas and electric department was a number of coupons on which an instantaneous bathroom gas heater was to be awarded to the one holding the lucky number. Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock the award was made at the gas office. Fred M. Packer, a non-user of gas, being selected to pick the lucky number, which turned out to be No. 1926. This was held by Richard Lewis of No. 257 Washington street, accountant for the Reid & Hughes company, who will accordingly receive the heater.

While the coupon plan has been in operation, E. L. Mahaffey of the Humphrey company of Kalamazoo, Mich., makers of this heater and others, has been here conducting a demonstration at the show rooms of the city gas and electric plant. An unusual amount of interest was shown in the coupon plan, 1425 having been turned in, while in Fall River, where the company had four men conducting the demonstration, only 800 coupons were received.

Charged With Stealing Here.

The Bulletin's Oneco correspondent writes:
 Moses Lambert and son Eddie and Clifford Jordan were arrested Thursday morning at the home of Moses Lambert, who has been charged with stealing an automobile from Rhode Island. Charles Rider lost some $100 worth of property tracked them to Moses Lambert's (the Black house, so-called), just over the line in Rhode Island, found the guilty parties and had them arrested. This is the second arrest for Moses Lambert in a few months. Eddie Lambert, his son, is only 17 years of age.

Norwich Business College

'Phone 136-2. 99 Main St.

The object of our course is to impart to young men and young women a thorough, practical business education; to teach them not only that which will be of use to them when they have cast upon them life's burdens and responsibilities. Not a moment is wasted in dealing with subjects which are of no practical value to them, and we claim, and our claim is acknowledged, that we can teach a student more in a few months than he can acquire in as many years by office work.

We give our students, as nearly as possible, just such work as will be required of them when they take their places in a merchant's or accountant's office; preceded and accompanied by such additional training as is necessary to fit them to do that work intelligently and well.

Our methods and courses of study are the results of much study and experiment, and of comparison with those of other colleges. We are continually making such changes as may be required to keep in the van of commercial progress, but our present methods are the outcome of 29 years' experience in selecting and rejecting—always eager to avail ourselves of every new feature of value—always careful to reject the false and worthless.

All term opens Monday, August 22.

W. E. CAMPFIELD, Principal.
